

Port America's Cup: The best Marina in Europe is in Valencia

The arrival of the America's Cup to Europe has opened up countless opportunities for the richest and most important event of the sailing world. And the first changes in this new era was to organize a process to identify the Host City for the 32nd America's Cup, Valencia, the third largest city of Spain won the trial for many reasons, among which are their excellent weather conditions for the practice of sailing and the commitment to create an infrastructure to match one of the most important events of the world.

Part of that infrastructure is the Port America's Cup Marina with its new 700-berths right in the heart of the action and just minutes from the race circuit."

Port America's Cup is next to Malvarrosa beach, with its palm tree lined promenade, excellent choice of restaurants, bars and nightclubs. The Valencia City beach.

Home of the Paella and the largest orange groves in Europe, Valencia has much to offer. For example, the City of Arts and Sciences, built along the old bed of the Turia River and close to the Port America's Cup.

With over 300 days of sunshine a year, Valencia ensures a brilliant experience to their guests.

If you decide to explore around the city, you should know that just after the city's skyline to the east of Port America's Cup, is the island of Ibiza. Alicante and Barcelona are not much farther away either.

Valencia is well connected to major European cities by train, plane and road.
